1. Manager's Message

Hello and welcome to redseason's July 2015 Newsletter!

Hope this finds you in the middle of a happy and enjoyable summer....and that your Independence Day was safe and fun-filled! So far, for many of us, this summer has been one of extreme weather! We have been enduring several weeks of extreme heat (especially for us weather wimps in the PNW), while others of you are experiencing extreme drought and wildfires, tornadoes, flooding rains, etc. Our heat spell broke just yesterday and now we have a few weeks of cooler temperatures in the forecast and maybe even a little much-needed rain...so I hope your extreme weather will be taking a break as well!

One wonderful thing about owning a WorldMark resort is that regardless of what your weather is, there is usually someplace else in our expansive country that is having wonderful weather....so why not take advantage of it and visit someplace with better weather when you'd like a break from your extreme weather? During our heat spell, even though it was sweltering inland, it was in the 60s and 70s at the Oregon and Washington beaches and many of us were trekking there to enjoy the beauty and coolness of the ocean breezes! I hope that you can do the same and take advantage of your WorldMark membership to get a break from your extreme weather!

If you find you need more credits to maximize your vacation fun, please connect with us! We think we're pretty great to work with! :)

Hope your July is fantastic so far and you're finding time to "summer on" in spite of your weather!

See us on

7. Editorial - New "quiet hours" for pools

Here is a statement from Bob Morrison, board member for Worldmark. It looks like they have been testing out quiet hours for all the resort pools. I've never had an issue with kids playing as I have two boys of my own, but I don't have much of a problem with this. I believe this will be different than "adult only" hours and will simply try and limit the noise level after 9:00pm. This change actually is happening because of comments on Worldmark's Facebook page. Here is his statement:

"Another success for this Facebook group. At the WorldMark board meeting Wyndham staff reported that they had been testing "quiet hours" at a few resorts. Although they were skeptical when I requested a test, they have found that it works. Owners have been respecting the new rule which does not run afoul of ADA. Quiet hours will be expanded to all resorts as new signage can be arranged."

If anyone is at a resort with the new signs, please snap a picture and email it to us. I would be curious to see what the new rules are going to be. What do you think? Good or bad idea?

Sincerely,

~ Matthew Jaeger & the entire redseason team.
